Defeatments Made in Good Order.— French Have Also Entered into the Fighting.—Some American Troops Reported
Engaged as Reserves.

Persistent attacks with strong forces of infantry and lavish use of artillery have enabled the British to make through the British line and after four days the great offensive blow in Northern France has not yet brought a decision.
The British have made progress around Baupenne near Peronne and where the French and British front joins.
Field Marshal Haig's withdrawal has been executed in a masterly and great credit to his success is given to small units which, sometimes outnumbered eight to one, impeded the German advance.

British have made few counter-attacks, but every one attempted has been successful.
Sunday's Battle.
British Army Headquarters in France, March 25.—The main thrust of the British battle Thursday morning was south of St. Quentin and the enemy used a division for every four of our own. Approximately one German division against every British battalion. The purpose was to acquire high ground for further advances. On the extreme right the British army the enemy crossed the Oise at two places. One body of troops came out of Laifere and swung north, while another army crossed the river and turned south to a junction with the Laifere group. The battle raged continuously in the low-land of the Oise.

Hold Line.
At Baudouin a group of British held out until 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.
The British further north the Germans stormed Ebbler and Essigny. Just west of St. Quentin the British were forced to fall back but clinging to the Hotton wood north of the city.
The moving character of the fighting at its present stage, continues the statement, makes it premature to express an opinion on practical phases
while the enemy have made no definite enveloping movement has been outlined.

Terrible Bombardment.
Against the high ground between Coul and Seneffe river the German artillery bombardment was unusually heavy. The British outnumbered the enemy eight to one in some places. The British withdrew to a line between Vaux-vaucourt, Morchies and Hamez-lez-Cambrai. The heaviest and most desultory battle was fought, which the Germans occupied only yesterday.
During Friday the Germans overran St. Ledger, Vaux-vaucourt and Hamez. One company of British held out on the hill behind the German advance for a long time, doing deadly execution in the densely wooded area. The German's most brilliantly in the most brilliant manner behind their shock troops and had been making full use of this arm as the advance continued.

Fresh Attacks.
London, March 25.—Fresh attacks
by the Germans have developed northward and southward of Baupenne, the war office announced. The British repulsed powerful attacks yesterday afternoon northward of Baupenne.

Straightened Line.
The British drove back to the east bank of the Senna a body of German troops which had crossed the river between Lieure and Eire south of Per-onne.

English Withdraw.
British efforts are centered on withdrawing, as occasion requires, and holding the enemy to wear himself out before the British defense. The British in the north, Sunday, reached the battlefront of the Somme, where the German's retreat is a year ago. The British are in the key position between Arras and Albert and Berlin reports that a gigantic struggle is being fought for its position.

Peronne is claimed by the Germans.
The heavy fighting is taking place between Bapaume and Peronne. The Germans have reached the British line between Bapaume and Peronne.

Reach Chauny.
On the south, where the sanguinary struggle has not lull for many days, the Germans have reached Chauny, an important point on the Senna river, southwest of Laifere.
However, their advance has not been so great as directly west of St.
Quentin, where they have progressed more than ten miles. The British and French battle lines near Chauny are in the French line along the Chem-in-dames and eastward toward Thiennes would be menaced if the Germans advance as far as Compiegne on the road to Paris. The German's are twenty miles southwest of Chauny.

Intense Fighting.
The intensity of the struggle is shown by the official announcement that British troops on Sunday repulsed down fifty-four enemy machines. The British lost only nine.
In addition British airmen again have dropped bombs on Mannheim, Germany. Berlin reports that the French American detachments aided the British in the fighting Saturday, but the identity of the American units has not been learned. Berlin also has announced the capture of a German number of prisoners has increased to 3,000. There has been little except the British front and on the French and American sector.

The German artillery fire has been violent along Chemin-des-dames, Champagne, northeast of Verdun, and in Alsace.
The battle continues with great violence on the whole front. Several attacks delivered by the enemy

CHIEF FEATURES OF THE WORLD'S BIGGEST BATTLE.

This is the fifth day of the struggle, which opened with the German offensive between the Scarpe and Oise rivers on Thursday.

American soldiers are reported to be taking part.

Now estimated that 2,000,000 men
are engaged.

The Germans, at the cost of terrible losses, were able to extend their lines, occupying Peronne, Ham and Chauny.

The Germans have now recaptured about one-third of the district which they evacuated and devastated in their retreat in the spring of 1917.

The opposing commanders in chief
are:

British—Field Marshal Sir Douglas
Haig.

German—The Kaiser.

Yesterday afternoon and evening
north of Baupenne were heavily pulsed. Only at one point did the British infantry reach our trenches, when they were immediately thrown out. Elsewhere the enemy attacks were stopped by rifle and machine gun and artillery fire. In front of our line our troops were driven back with great losses. During the night and this morning fresh hostile attacks have again developed in the high-ground to the south of Baupenne.
South of Peronne bodies of German troops have crossed the river between Lieure and Eire and driven back to the east by our counter attacks.

French Active.
The statement follows: "French troops began to intervene on March 23 on the battle now being fought on the British front. They relieved certain British forces and took up fighting themselves on this sector of the front."

"At the present time they are engaged in heavy fighting in the region
around Noion and they are disputing the heights on the right bank of the Oise with important German forces.
In the northwest there has been violent artillery action in the region of Courcy and Livore. In the Champagne two German surprise attacks
east of Suippes resulted in failure.
French patrol took some prisoners
near Tureur."

"There was much artillery activity between Arracourt and the Vosges daybreak. German troops attacked the British line near Bagny and east of Baudouin. The Germans were repulsed with heavy losses."

German Cavalry.
German cavalry in small numbers
has been in action, but thus far used only to harass the British during their withdrawal. Early this morning the Germans hurled a great number of tanks against the British near Hamez-lez-Cambrai. At latest report the onrushing troops had been unable to force their way through the British artillery barrage which had made the advance of the heavy battle is proceeding today on the British right flank, where the enemy had succeeded in forcing his way across the Somme
and canal.

South of Ham.
South of Ham the allies were delivering counter attacks with the purpose of pushing back the German advance. The British have been pushing forward by sheer weight of numbers, with the assistance of the British artillery. In the region of Baupenne and Peronne the British fell back again somewhat in the fighting late on Sunday. This marked the main success of the enemy, whose progress is being contested bitterly.

German Report.
Berlin, via British admiralty, per Wireless Press, March 25.—The Germans are stalling on the right of the front in the middle of the forward Somme battlefield, says today's official statement. Bapaume was captured in night fighting. The evening Nesle was taken in a storm, the statement adds. British, American and French troops were thrown back through a wooded, pathless country.
More than 35,000 prisoners and machines were captured. The statement developed for possession of Com-bles and the height west of town. The enemies were defeated, the statement adds.

Bapaume is on the northern part of the battle front, where the British line for the most part has been held.
The largest towns on the fighting front from which a number of roads radiate. The official German statement of Sunday night said a gigantic struggle is taking place for its position. It is thirteen miles below Arras.

At Peronne.
London, March 25.—Field Marshal William Earl of Hindenburg has been visited by Peronne on Sunday evening, according to Berlin advices from Amsterdam by the "Exchange" Telegraph.

The German losses in the battle of Bapaume are described as "considerably heavy."
The British in the battle of the Somme were in action
north of Bapaume. The statement said the British were attacking in considerable force at dawn, but did not get through the British barrage.

Gallant Fighting.
Northwest of the city of St. Quentin, strong British reducts made a gallant defense and it was nightfall before the last of them with gunners had been reduced. The British of the first day found the British behind the St. Quentin canal. Friday morning the enemy renewed his assault with increasing vigor and the desperate fighting in the region of Laifere succeeded in getting across to the British side. Further north the British also withdrew from the Hamez-lez-Cambrai. The Germans then drove westward into the British position.
Between Arras and Bapaume the Germans made their first drive against the British positions.

A further advance late yesterday
by the Germans at some points along the battle front is again being in the engineers have again been in the line of the fierce conflict in which they have done excellent work in transportation.

stand against the German offensive
and predicting a final allied victory.
The president's message read:

GATHER TO DISCUSS ACTIVITIES IN CAMP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Des Moines, Iowa, March 25.—
Plans for furthering the recreational activities at seven national army camps in the central west will be discussed here today at a special meeting called by the war department commission on Training Camp Activities.

Camps that will be represented are Dodge, Taylor, Sherman, Custer,
Grant, Funston and Pike. It is expected that more than seventy persons will attend the meeting, which will be devoted largely to a comparison of methods used in the various camps, with a view to ascertaining which are best.

Representatives of the war department commission and athletic directors at the various camps will be included in the gathering. It is stated,
R. E. Towne, a Washington personal representative of Raymond Fosdick, chairman of the commission, will preside at the meeting.

No specific program for the conference has been outlined by R. E. Towne, representative of the commission for Camp Dodge and this community, but it has been explained that every phase of the recreational work will come in for thorough discussion.

Protective work for girls, law enforcement in communities adjoining the camp, music in camps, post exchanges, athletic contests, work in camps through various organizations and similar topics will be discussed.

Just what suggestions for inter-camp athletic tournaments would be discussed, Towne was not prepared to say, but it was his belief that some plans would be made for clashes between the various camps in baseball and boxing and perhaps other sports.

NEW ATTACK MADE TODAY BY BIG GUN

MANY SHELLS DROPPED INTO
CITY OF PARIS THIS MORN-ING BUT CAUSE NO GREAT UNEASINESS.

WILL LOCATE THE GUN

Aeroplane Will Then Be Used to Silence the New German Monster
That is Firing over a Distance of Seventy Odd Miles.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, March 25.—A long range bombardment of Paris was resumed
this morning, but interrupted
after a second shot.

Two More Shots.
After a brief interval two more shots were fired. The bombardment was again suspended at nine o'clock.

Not Annoyed.
As was the case yesterday, the people did not take to the bombardment. After they were awakened by the first shot the people were brought to their windows by the rattling of drums. Policemen circulated through the city introducing the new system of alarm which is distinguished from the alarm in case of air-raids. The police come in for great amount of chaffing by the people, being greatly amused at their lack of proficiency with the drum sticks. This appeared to mark their limit of interest in the bombardment.

Seek Gun.
It is to be hoped that the gun which shelled Paris very shortly be silenced, says the Pictorial, which gives the following outline of the search for the gun which is said to be in a position to know.

"The 380 millimeter gun which bombarded Dunkirk twenty-five miles was located by our airplanes and soon put out of action. The same method will be adopted with regard to the 240 millimeter gun which has been bombarding Paris for the last two days.
Since Saturday our airplanes have been looking for it and the fact that it stopped firing at dusk, perhaps, indicates that it will not be long until it is definitely placed, then its career will soon be over."

Washington, March 25.—Ambassador Sharp, in Paris, reported to the state department today the bombardment of Paris at long range by the Germans. He forwarded the official statement of the French government in which the fact was announced to the public.

An Air Raid.
Another air raid alarm was sounded
shortly after one o'clock this morning.
After three quarters of an hour firemen's bugles and church bells announced all was clear and the Parisians were able to return to their beds.

LENROOT WILL SPEAK IN KENOSHA TONIGHT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 25.—The sen-

night.

Sunday was spent by Congressman Lenroot in Madison in conference with other officials. Senator Rossard, who is also a candidate, will leave for La Crosse today by a majority over Davies of 50,000. The democratic leaders here, however, take a different view of the matter and an active campaign is being waged here
for Davies.

It is expected that all of the elec-

evening and that the canvassing board will be able to clean up the canvass on Tuesday. The official returns have a tendency to increase the vote of Mr. Lenroot over that of Mr.

reported decision to refuse grain supplies by the United States in return for Dutch ships just taken over, will Dutch when they send ships for it.

HOSTILE AIRPLANES REPORTED AT CAIRO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, March 25.—The inhabitants of Cairo Egypt were alarmed officially last Thursday, according to a Reuter dispatch, that hostile airships
had been observed over the coast.
The public was warned of a possibility of air raid and ordered to observe necessary lighting regulations.
Cairo, the capital and metropolis of Egypt, has been in no danger from air raids since the Turks were driven back from the Suez canal. The Ruths lines in Palestine are the nearest point to Cairo and they are 330 miles northeast. An enemy airship might also come across the Mediter-

Asia Minor. The distance by that

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 25.—Madison is in the center of a "wet and dry" prohibition amendment on behalf of the Davies candidacy for senator will have a word to say in their behalf also.

William Jennings Bryan was to have

Both sides are confident.

ESTABLISH SYSTEM OF ZONES FOR WISCONSIN

COAL SITUATION WILL BE HANDLED BY ZONE SYSTEM OF TRANSPORTATION TO RELIEVE CONGESTION.

FILL BINS THIS SUMMER

Administration Urges Consumers to Fill Bins During Summer Months to Avoid Another Shortage.

Fuel Administrator W. N. Wheeler of Wisconsin has the recipient yesterday of a telegram from the national fuel administration outlining the campaign for the distribution of coal for the year starting August 1. A zone system has been adopted by the administration, which, however, only applies to bituminous coal. Special arrangements are to be made for the railroad users.

The effect of the system is to restrict eastern coal to eastern markets and fill the central and western vacancy with coal produced in the vicinity. It is claimed that many of the mines have been unable to keep up production in the summer months because of the increase in demands. Under the zone system these producing districts have been allotted consuming territory which will demand a larger increase in production. It is urged that consumers by their coal this summer and keep the mines working in order that the mines will not have a serious shortage next winter. The zone system, which affects the following areas, is being applied to the following lines have been drawn and will be referred to for the convenience in describing the changes in Wisconsin.

Line 1—Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul from Milwaukee, through Milton Junction to Madison; thence via Chicago and Northwestern to Goodland, Wisconsin; thence via Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul through McGregor, Iowa.

Line 2—From Kewaunee, via Green Bay and Western railroad to Ashland Junction; thence via Milwaukee, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie on the line through Abbotsford and Chippewa Falls to Minneapolis, Minn.

Line 3—Chicago and Northwestern from Peoria, Ill., through Belvidere to Beloit, thence via Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul through Elkhorn and Waukegan, to Milwaukee.

Line 4—Chicago and Northwestern from Peoria, Ill., through Madison, Wis., thence via the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul from Watertown to Milwaukee.

The new plan prohibits the all-rail movement into the whole state of Wisconsin of coal from the producing districts in eastern Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Michigan, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

FIRE DAMAGES WOODS APARTMENT BUILDING

Blaze Caused by Defective Chimney Results in Two Hundred Dollar Damage to Building.

Fire caused by a defective chimney damaged the Woods apartments at the corner of Court and North Bluff streets early Sunday morning to the extent of two hundred dollars. The fire was discovered by one of the tenants of the building and had a great headway before the department arrived.

This is the second fire in the Woods apartments in the past three months. The first fire, which was caused by the security of hard coal has been burning soft coal. He is of the opinion that it is the coal that is responsible for the fires.

The blaze that reached the side walls of the attic and the roof and it was necessary for the department to chop away a good share of the roof and side walls in order to get at the base of the fire. Hand pumps were used in fighting the blaze. The building is owned by a Rockford party and is covered by insurance.

When you think of insurance, think of C. P. Beers. Adv.

Committee Is Urging Young Men to Get Into the Work to Replace Those in War.

County Committee of the Rock County Y. M. C. A. met at the Jackson Hotel, Friday afternoon, to transact business and discuss plans for the coming spring and summer. W. B. Senty, the County Secretary, presented a report of the winter activities, pointing out especially the necessity of training leaders for work with boys during these times in view of the fact that many of the former leaders have joined the army and thus leaving even more important for organized work than in ordinary times. In most of the communities it is in very good condition although there has been very bad winter for boys' meetings in the country districts. Seventeen groups of boys have been organized during the season and several new leaders are now ready to take hold of other clubs that are under organization.

Three Father and Son banquets were conducted with a total attendance of 270. The first was at Camp Grant, which has been under the supervision of the County Committee, boys have taken great interest and to date have sold over $5,000 worth of stamps.

The Committee also instructed Mr. Senty to co-operate with the Boys' Working Reserve in the capacity of County Director to which office he has been appointed by the Federal Director.

After the meeting the men had supper at the Y. M. C. A. and listened to an address by Howard Hubbell on the Growth of County Work. Mr. Hubbell was formerly the State County Work Secretary and is now a member of the International committee having charge of the states south of the Ohio River where county work is now being introduced and at the request of the Canadian government, three Province secretaries are to be put on the field as soon as possible.

South Dakota is beginning a state-wide plan for county organization, and the same is true of Wisconsin and several other states. The National department of agriculture has requested that 1000 counties be organized as soon as possible.

The following members of the County Committee were present: S. A. Karkham, Janesville; C. W. Birkenmeyer and L. A. Anderson, Edgerton; H. O. Nateska, Bergen; J. A. McArthur, Emerald Grove; R. H. Holston and Dr. Rock, Madison; Milton Junction; and Prof. A. E. Whitford of Milton.

RAYMOND SPAULDING WRITES FROM FRANCE

Local Young Man Who Left Janesville With Voluntary M. Writes Telling of Excellent Conditions in France.

Raymond Spaulding of the Headquarters company of the 32d division, 128th Infantry, formerly of Co. M, has written two very interesting letters to his mother, Mrs. A. W. Spaulding, 534 North Hickory street, from "Somewhere in France."

Private Spaulding enlisted in this city last summer and left with Co. M. He was later transferred to the Headquarters company of the division at Camp MacArthur and left Texas about a month before the division.

Both letters were censored by Lieut. Ernest Wood, who left this city with Co. M. Lieut. Wood is well known here and it will be a source of pleasure to his friends to know that he has arrived safely on foreign soil. The letters follow:

"Somewhere in France, Feb. 13, 1918.—Dear Mother: I am in perfect health and enjoying the bright side of the war. I am feeling fine today and I got paid for the first time. I am getting fat over here and that is ample proof that we are getting sufficient food.

The sun is not shining today, but it is not out. There has been no snow or ice since I have been here. They are planting gardens over here and the grass is real green. We get the New York Times here. It is the latest news in about the states. The German victories are getting fewer every day. I was talking to a fellow who witnessed the work of the Tuscany and he stated that the conduct of the men was great.

"There is a little girl who lives across the street from me and she is assisting me in French. There are shrines here all along the road and at the top of the hills. I could write you some interesting facts but all our everything is kept printed in Paris. The interesting facts would be cut out.

"Everything is fine over here and the fellows haven't a thing to find fault with. The tents are good and the sleeping quarters are fine. I will write again soon.

"RAY SPAULDING.

"Somewhere in France, March 1, 1918.—Dear Mother: I am in the lieutenant's room where it is nice and warm and I have just finished a little work on the desk. I am feeling fine and I will write a nice long letter. It is about pay day and I will be terribly rich in the eyes of the French soldier who get about seven francs a day, which is about $1.50 in our money. They all seem to get along on that amount some way.

I have received several letters from the states and they are all welcome. I sent you a cablegram from the port where we landed. Did you receive it? We had a little snow last evening and there is about three inches of snow on the ground at the present time, but it won't last over two or three days. It has been rainy and nasty over here for the past week. The grass and the trees are green and everything looks like spring. I am over 100 miles from the front. I have a lovely room and plenty of heat. I have friends in the French army and they prove very interesting.

"Well, mother, I have dined and feel much better. I have not told you of the new Y. M. C. A. they are putting up here. It will cost $15,000 and it will open shortly. There are two French classes here and I am making use of one of them. I speak French a little but not nearly as well as I want to.

"Besides doing my work and drawing maps I get wood for the officers, and now have three captains besides myself. I am doing very well. Well, mother, I will have to close for this time. Will write again soon, and you write often.

IS SENTENCED FOR STEALING TOBACCO

Paul Greagus Draws a Four Month Sentence in Municipal Court This Morning.

Paul Greagus, charged with stealing fifty pounds of leaf tobacco, valued at $87.50, from the C. M. & St. Paul railroad, appeared before Judge Maxwell this morning in the municipal court and was sentenced to four months in the county jail. Greagus said he was drunk at the time he took the tobacco and could not remember anything that had happened.

He was brought before the court on Saturday and entered a plea of not guilty, but when he was informed that the tobacco had been found on his property by the officers he changed his attitude.

Harry Quirk, the youngster who was arrested for his connection with the injuries sustained by John Zastoupil in an attack made upon him by a gang of young men, demanded an ex-

PETEY DINK—HE NEVER CAN RESIST THEM.

Cap'n Warren's Wards

By JOSEPH C. LINCOLN.
Copyright, 1911, D. Appleton & Co.

"I will, you can depend on me."
"I do. And, say, for goodness' sake, put me out of my misery regarding that rock or lighthouse on Blue's chart soon's ever you settle which it is."
"Certainly! And, remember, don't worry. It may be a lighthouse or nothing at all. At all events, I'll report very soon."
But in spite of his promise Sylvester did not report during the following week or the next. Meanwhile his client tried his best to keep the new mystery from troubling his thoughts and succeeded only partially. The captain's days and evenings were quiet and monotonous. He borrowed a book or two from Mrs. Hopton's messenger library, read, wrote a good deal, generally along the water front, and wrote daily letters to Miss Baker. He and Pearson were together for at least a portion of each day. The author, fighting down his dejection and discouragement, set himself resolutely to work once more on the novel, and his manuscript was called in for frequent

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. The pleasant little tablets do good that calomel does, but have no bad after-effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. Calomel, but let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place. Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

consultation. The story, however, progressed but slowly. There was something lacking. Each knew what that something was, but neither named it.

One evening Pearson entered the room tenanted by his friend to find the latter seated beside the table, his shoes partially unlaced and a pair of big slippers ready for putting on.

"Captain," said the visitor, "you look so comfortable I hate to disturb you."

Captain Elsha, red faced and panting, desisted from the unlacing and straightened in his chair.

"When," he puffed, "Jim, your remarks prove that your experience of the world ain't as big as it ought to be. When you get to my age and waist measure you'll realize that stooping over and comfort don't go together. I hope to be comfortable pretty soon, but I shan't be till then boots are off. Set down. The agony'll be over in a minute."

Pearson declined to sit. "Not yet," he said. "And you let those shoes alone until you hear what I've got to say. A newspaper friend of mine has sent me two tickets for the opera tonight. I want you to go with me."

Captain Elsha was surprised. "To the opera?" he repeated. "Why, that's a—sort of singin' theater, ain't it?"

"Yes. You're fond of music; you told me so. And 'Aida' is beautiful. Come on. It will do us both good."

"Hum! Well, I don't know."

"I do. Get ready."

The captain looked at his caller's evening clothes.

"What do you mean by gettin' ready?" he asked. "You've got on your regimentals, open front and all. My uniform is the huntin' case kind; fits in better with church societies and South Denboro notheaters. If I wore one of those vests like yours Abbie'd make me put on a red flannel lung protector to keep from catchin' pneumonia. And she'd think 'twas sinful waste besides, runnin' the risk of spillin' a clean billed shirt so quick. Won't I look like an undertaker sittin' alongside of you?"

"Not a bit. If it will ease your mind I'll change to a business suit."

"I don't care. You know how I feel. We had a little talk about hats a spell ago, you remember. If you're willing to take me just as I am, without a plea," as the hymn tune says, why, I'll callate I'll say 'yes' and go. Set down and wait while I get on my ceremonials."

The pair walked over to Broadway, boarded a street car and alighted before the Metropolitan Opera House. Pearson's seats were good ones, well down in the orchestra. Captain Elsha turned and surveyed the great interior and the brilliantly garbed audience.

Pearson brought a copy of the libretto, and the captain followed the performance with interest.

"Say, Jim," he whispered, with a broad grin, "it's a good thing this opera idea ain't carried into real life. If you had to sing every word you said 'twould be sort of distressin', specially if you was in a hurry. A fast rate solo when you was singin' the crowd to shorthen salt would be a high old brimstone anthem, I'll bet you."

The foyer had its usual animated crowd, and among them Pearson recognized a critic of his acquaintance. He offered to introduce the captain, but the latter declined the honor, saying that he "calitared" he wouldn't shove his bows in this time. "You heave ahead and see your friend, Jim," he added. "I'll come to anchor by a minute and when the act goes on, I'll have to write Abbie about all this. She'll want to know how the female craft was rigged."

Left alone, he leaned against the pillar and watched the people pass and repass just behind him. Two young men paused just behind him. He could not help overhearing their conversation.

"I presume you've heard the news?" asked one casually.

"Yes," replied the other, "I have—that is, if you mean the news concerning Mal Dunn. The matter learned it this afternoon and sprang it at dinner. No one was greatly surprised. Formal announcement made and all that sort of thing, I believe. Mal's to be congratulated."

"His mother is, you mean. She managed the campaign. The old lady is some strategist, and I'd back her to win under ordinary circumstances. But I understand these were not ordinary; wise owl of a guardian to be circumvented or something of that sort."

"From what I hear the Duns haven't won so much after all. There was a big shrinkage when papa died, so they say. Instead of three or four millions it panned out to be a good deal less than one. I don't know much about it because our family and theirs have drifted apart since they moved."

some time. And it takes a few oncats to keep Mal going. He's no Uncle Russell when it comes to putting by for the rainy day."

"Well, on the whole, I'm rather sorry for—the other party. Mal is a good enough fellow and he certainly is a game sport, but—"

They moved on and Captain Elsha heard no more. But what he had heard was quite sufficient. He sat through the remainder of the opera in silence and answered all his friend's questions and remarks curly and absently.

As they stepped into the trolley Pearson bought an evening paper, not the Planet, but a dignified sheet which shunned sensationalism and devoted much space to the doings of the safe, sane and ultra respectable element. Porgysing that his companion for some reason did not care to talk, he read as the car moved downtown. Suddenly Captain Elsha was awakened from his reverie by hearing his friend utter an exclamation. Looking up, the captain saw that he was leaning back in the seat, the paper lying unheeded in his lap.

"What's the matter?" asked the older man anxiously.

Pearson started, glanced quickly at his friend, hesitated, and looked down again.

"There it is," he said. "Read it."

Captain Elsha took the paper, drew his spectacle case from his pocket, adjusted his glasses and read. The item was among those under the head of "Personal and Social." It was what he expected. "The engagement is today announced of Miss Caroline Warren, daughter of the late A. Rodgers Warren, the well known broker, to Mr. Malcolm Corcoran Dunn of Fifth avenue. Miss Warren, it will be remembered, was one of the most charming of our season before last's debutantes and"—etc.

The captain read the brief item through.

"Yes," he said slowly, "I see." Pearson looked at him in amazement.

"Are you going to permit her to marry that—that fellow?"

"Well, I ain't sartin that I can stop her."

"My God, man! Do you realize—and she—your niece—why?"

"There, there, Jim! I realize it all, I callate. It's my business to realize it."

"And it isn't mine. No, of course, it isn't. You're right there."

"Hold on," commanded the captain. "Hold on, Jim! Don't you go off half cocked. When I said 'twas my business to realize this thing I meant just that and nothin' more. I wasn't hintin', and you ought to know it. You do know it, don't you?"

The young man paused. "Yes," he answered, after an instant's struggle with his feelings; "yes, I do. I beg your pardon, captain."

"Sort of knocked you on your beam ends, I understand. Well, Jim," with a sigh, "I ain't exactly on an even keel myself."

CHAPTER XIV. "Now We're Comin' to the Rock."

NINE o'clock is an early hour for a New York lawyer of prominence to be at his place of business. Yet when Captain Elsha asked the office boy of Sylvester, Kuhn & Graves if the senior partner was in he received an affirmative answer. Sylvester welcomed him gravely. He pushed an electric button on his desk. The office boy answered the ring.

"Have Mr. Kuhn and Mr. Graves arrived?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes, sir; both of them, sir."

"Tell them Captain Warren is here, and ask them to join us in the inner room. Remind Mr. Graves to bring the papers. And, Tim, remember that none of us is to be disturbed. Do you understand?"

"Yes, sir," said Tim and departed.

Captain Elsha regarded his friend with some dismay.

"Say," he exclaimed, "this must be serious if it takes the skipper and both mates to handle it!"

Sylvester did not smile. "It is," he answered. "Come!"

He led the way into the room opening from the rear of his own. It was a large apartment with a long table in the center. Mr. Kuhn, brisk and businesslike, was already there. He shook hands with his client. As he did so Graves, dignified and precise as ever, entered, carrying a small portfolio filled with papers.

The four took chairs at the table. Graves untied and opened the portfolio. Captain Elsha looked at his solemn companions, and his lips twitched.

Sylvester took a card from his pocket and referred to a penciled memorandum on its face.

"Captain Warren," he began slowly, "as you know, and as directed by you, my partners here and I have been engaged for months in carefully going over your brother's effects, estimating values, tabulating and sorting his various properties and securities, separating the good from the worthless, and there yas, as we saw at a glance, a surprising amount of the latter."

"Um-hm," interrupted the captain, "cut short bonds and the like of that, I know. Expense me. Go on."

The First Eraser.

India rubber was used for the first time as an eraser in 1770, when a very small piece was sold for three marks. It was, however, many years later before it was put into general use. Prior to this the crumb of bread was used for erasing purposes.

Dinner Stories

The Missourian visiting in New York has run out of breath, then got a fresh start and said:

"Well, if we could only have the same ocean in our city that you've got at your doors, New York wouldn't be one, two, three with us."

"You can have the ocean," remarked the New Yorker, dryly.

"Have it? What do you mean?" demanded the westerner.

"Well, if you can draw in your breath as hard as you can blow it out, pulling the ocean over to your burg would be a small task."

A Greenwich man tells of a Connecticut farmer who, after having driven a lot of cattle to Greenwich, sold them for precisely what had been offered him before he left home.

"You haven't made much bringing your hogs here," remarked the man.

"Well, no," replied the agriculturist, dejectedly. "I ain't made no money, but then, you know," his face brightening, "I had the company of the hogs on the way over."

The teacher was giving a talk on coins and they had been through the entire range from pennies to double eagles. One little girl was inattentive. Her gaze was fixed upon playing sparrow on the window sill, and she had no thought for coins.

Suddenly the teacher placed a half dollar on the pupil's desk and demanded, "What's that?"

"Heads," came the instantaneous answer.

Smith told me he had just installed a dumb waiter in his house."

"That's a good idea. Now he can eat at table without having all his family affairs and quarrels repeated to the neighbors' servants."

Go to your drugstore, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get rid of those unsightly and disgusting pimples, and other skin irritations. And it will cleanse your blood thoroughly. LARGE HOG GROWER SPEAKS TO YOUTHFUL HOG CLUB MEMBERS Gave Good Advice to the Young Breeders on the Ins and Outs of the Hog Business.

"Be good to your pigs but don't feed them too much," cautioned Burley Johnson, Lancaster, Poland-China raiser and one of the best known hog raisers in the state, when speaking to the boys and girls who are members of the Pig Club at luncheon at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday noon.

"Pigs are no house plants and they do not need to be pampered or fed too much, but they do need plenty of exercise. Exercise is necessary to the pig, so that they can get the capacity to assimilate all the food you give them and just a little more. One of the most important items in raising pigs is the feeding regulation. Many hogs are fed too much and this is one of the greatest evils which often brings results and consequently stunted pigs. A pig under six months of age cannot take care of all the food which it can eat. A pig under six months which is free to eat will eat too much and will grow fat, but it will remain small and will not have the development of a pig which has been carefully fed. Be careful and do not let your pigs eat more food for this always brings with it dire results. Feed your pigs only what they can eat at one time and no more."

Mr. Johnson also spoke to the young pig raisers of the various beneficial things which he has found best for his pigs. He advised them to feed the hogs a good balanced ration, which should consist principally of corn, alfalfa, clover, skimmed milk, sugar and soft coal or charcoal.

"Keep your pig pens clean and dry and provide them with plenty of fresh water," he said. "It is very important to keep the pens clean and dry. If you do not, the pigs will get sick and you will lose your money. Keep your pig pens clean and dry and provide them with plenty of fresh water. This was another piece of advice. He also said that skimmed milk makes the best ration for a growing pig. Various questions were asked of Mr. Johnson by the young pig raisers. One of them was whether or not ground corn makes good feed for the young pigs. His answer was in the negative, saying that most of the young pigs cannot take care of the corn, but a little might not do any harm when fed with middlings or cottonseed meal. Burley was another feed which Mr. Johnson does not consider as good as many others. He considers it too strong."

"Some of you boys and girls will be disappointed in your first attempts at pig raising, but stick to it and you will come out all right. Be kind to your pigs and you will find that it will grow better. But the most important thing is read all you can on hog raising and follow this advice and get all the advice you can possibly get. If you are in need of help at any time write me and I will be glad to answer your questions," he said.

Mr. Johnson is an enthusiastic hog raiser and has an unbounded faith in the possibility of raising hogs on every farm. He was one of the pig men to organize the hogs in the state for the pig club and his pig club entailed much hard work to get together and then it only had six members, but in the following years the original club has always increased in membership.

He is now trying to get all pig clubs organized in a general round-up for a Wisconsin meet in Madison where good prizes will be awarded to the winners. The Wisconsin Swine Breeders' association of which Mr. Johnson is a member, is fathering the movement and hopes for a meet this year.

S. M. Smith of the local bank which is financing the club impressed on the boys and girls the fact that they are now starting out on a business venture which can be a success or failure, either of which depends on the care of the pig who has charge of the pig. Mr. Smith said: "We are now taking your unsecured note which signifies that you will pay at a certain time. Take care of your pig on a business basis, so to it that you can raise a good strong pig. This you can only do by hard, conscientious work. Boys and girls to the fact that they are not only raising the pigs for the money that they make out of it, but they are doing a patriotic service to the country by increasing the food production which has now become necessary."

The successful entries in the Rock County pig contest were: Walter Marlett, Gerald Street, Clarence McBride, Leroy Clark, Antonette Clark, Agnes Kahoe, John Drew, Stewart Brown, Harold Jennings, Harrison Green, John Eernard Arthur Short, Clara Shumaker, Naletto Salmon, Clarence Holmes, William Halwick, Victor Knudson, Violet Watson, two brothers Stockwell, Ira Larson, Della Kebab, Finley, Thomas, Walter Porter, Robinson, Porter, Rebecca Porter, Malcolm, Marvin, Mabel Ransom, Ethel Letz, Harold Green, Neva Finn, Roy Finn, Howard Carey, Leroy Austin, Gerald Salmon, John Monague, W. J. Gaudin, Alden Porter, Willie Murphy, Lovell Black, Ruby Mody, Nina Worthy, Charles Doss, Sam Lackner, Clarence Anderson, Leonard Young and Borden Singletary.

Self-Pity; Self-Praise.

Half the world is gnawed by the beast Self Pity and the other half is bitten by the beast Self Praise. It is better to chain both these animals and keep out free and unconcerned about self. All this concern about self is the misfortune which dogs the man who has not related himself to the one universal law.

OUR WORD ON IT—THIS WAGON END IS REAL, FOR-SURE POSTOFFICE

Just an ordinary-looking old wagon-end—but it's a heavenly spot to the Tommies "over there." For it is a postoffice. In any military camp the postoffice is the spot de luxe, no matter how homely a place it may be. This photo is of a Canadian camp postoffice and its postmaster who is reading a letter from this side himself.

Our Rabbits.
The term rabbit was formerly more properly applied to the burrowing species of the old world, Lepus cuniculus (meaning to burrow), though by common usage our molly cottontail has so long been termed a rabbit that the name will now stand, as will that of jack rabbit for the big western hare of the prairies and Pacific coast.

Women Better or Worse.
Women, when they are bad, are worse than men and more disposed to commit crime. When the sex which is sweet by inheritance once becomes degraded it falls into greater excesses than the other. Women are always either much better or much worse than men.—Bonaparte.

Y. M. C. A. TEAM FALLS BEFORE HIGH SCHOOL FIVE; SCORE 24-21

Close Game at High School Gymnasium Saturday Evening Gives High a Clear-Cut Victory.

Playing an excellent article of basketball minus the services of Nuzum, crack left forward, the high school team won the championship of the city Saturday evening at the high school gymnasium by walloping the Y. M. C. A. basketballers by the score of 24 to 21. It was a close game throughout with the high school having a little the best of the game at all stages.

The Y. M. C. A. presented a formidable lineup with many four-time players of the high school. Although the game had more experience at the game than the high school, Captain Piers and his men played like veterans and clearly outclassed the losers both on offense and on defense.

Only once did the Y. M. C. A. men threaten the lead held by the winners and that occurred about five minutes before the close of the game when Cassidy dropped the ball in the middle of the floor in as many minutes. With the score at 22 to 21 time was taken out by the high school to bring the forces to battle for the last drive.

With two minutes left to play both teams went after the victory with their best abilities. Lane, however, turned the trick for the high school by a clever shot from under the basket which clinched the victory for the winners. The high school tossers then took the defensive and held the ball until time was called.

The Y. M. C. A. men entered the contest confident of a victory, but failed to recognize the strength of the high school who were weary from the four games played at the Milton school. The high school team held to their long range baskets by Paul, who was on his trail at all times. Cassidy led the attack for the losers with four baskets from all parts of the floor.

The credit for the victory goes to the high school team, which played some of the best basketball seen on the local floor this season. They outclassed and outthought their opponents.

High school played at forward in place of Nuzum and although he only counted once, he held his brother, who played guard against him, scoreless. Cassidy led in the counting column with four baskets apiece. The work of Lane was especially commendable in the last period when he made three baskets when they were most needed.

The first half was all high school, the final count for the period being 12 to 5. Towards the end of the second half the game took on a different character. Cassidy and Lane, who were gradually decreased the lead held by the high school.

Both teams fouled freely because of the intense rivalry which kept the men on edge at all times. Several players were on the edge of being ejected from the game because of personal fouls.

Wednesday afternoon in the high school gymnasium Beloit high school team will meet the locals in their last game of the season. Janesville City Ave. already defeated the Janesville team twice during the season and they are out to repeat in the final game of the year. Beloit always presents a strong lineup and a large crowd.

CANTILLON BACK OF TWILIGHT BASEBALL

Former Janesville Boy, Now Manager of Minneapolis Team, Wants to Start Games at 6 O'Clock.

Joseph Cantillon, manager of the Minneapolis team of the American League, a former resident of this city, has a novel idea according to the opinion of many baseball fans throughout the country and may find it is a practical and may work out to be a benefit to the working people.

Mr. Cantillon is going to start his week day games at home this season at 6 o'clock in the evening. He is working at offices and factories will have an opportunity of witnessing other games besides those played on Sunday. The idea has been given widespread publicity throughout the state and the fans will eagerly watch the result of this idea.

Joe Cantillon is well known in this city, where he was born and raised. He was a member of the old Janesville Athletics and several other teams many years ago.

Like many another player, Jimmy Archer finally gave him his first major league contract. It was with the Pirates that Archer made his major league debut in 1904.

The Cleveland Indians will have only one training session a day at their southern camp. Lee Pohl claims it is more satisfactory than the two a day system.

MANY NEW FACES TO BE SEEN THIS YEAR ON BOTH HUB TEAMS

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]

New York, March 25.—Boston fans will scarcely recognize their two major league clubs this summer as the ones that finished the season 1917. Changes in the personnel of both teams, largely caused by conditions brought about by the war, have made many changes necessary, and the Red Sox in particular, will present a strange front to the fan in the Hub.

Starting from the top, with Ed Barrow in place of Jack Barry, the Sox have been rehabilitated. Then there is Johnny Evers, formerly of the Braves, but now Barrow's first lieutenant.

Bush Schang, Strunk and McInnis, in Red Sox uniforms, will look strange to the Boston fan, and there are others, including Hack Ebel, from the Richmond club, a first baseman; Paul Smith, Montreal outfielder, and George Whitman, veteran minor league pitcher, purchased from Toronto.

The Braves, with Charley Horzog acting as first deputy to George Stallings, will also look strange. In addition, the Boston Nationals have secured Outfielder Al Wickland, from Indianapolis; Jack Henry, the former Washington catcher; Jimmy Smith, secured from the Giants in the Herzog-Doyle deal; Dick Conway and Jack Nealon, infield recruits, and two new pitchers, Murray and Burmeister.

Barry, Shorten, Shars, Lewis, McNally, Bentley, Penneck, Walsh, Bader, Janvin, Wilder and probably Del Gainer will be missing from the Red Sox. All of these players are either in the service or elsewhere. Gardner, Cady, Walker, Thomas, Gregg and Kopp, who were all the property of the Sox last winter, will spend 1918 with the Athletics.

The Braves lost a peppercorn in Rabbin, a catcher, and a pitcher, and Schreiber, an infield recruit, are also in the service. Tyler and Barnes, two seasoned pitchers, have been taken away by other teams, and Ed Wilson will don the mask and protector for the Stallingsites. Kelly, Powell and Rheg, of last year's outfield, are comparatively new players to Boston fans.

MORRIS MILLER

Ed Gharriety, the Washington Senator's catcher, is going to do something this season that only the most fearless would attempt. He is going to wear a catcher's mask and a catcher's cap. Gharriety will be able to wear it and when he will crack under the strain from the fans that will make him bite his nails a bit. Somehow the fans can't abide him, but he is a sort of whippersnapper. The football and basketball fans of the Washington Senators will have them screaming in fury. Wally Schang must get the most season ticket in the city with an embossed upper lip and then John Henry, the Senators' tried to get by with the same idea. Neither went very far. The fans will have to be patient and there you are. It somehow doesn't seem natural. And, by the way, what would occur to a boxer if he came into the ring with a neat little eyebrow on his lip?

Harry Frazee, owner of the Red Sox, will retain the veteran Billy Meyer. He will be engaged as the club's scout.

Oscar Vitt, the Detroit's clever third baseman, refused to sign last year until the season had begun. Then President Marvin was forced to yield to his demands. Vitt now believes that he knows how to get another increase in pay. His last word from California that unless Marvin agrees to his terms he will remain on the coast all summer. Vitt is a determined young man, also one of the "biggest" value players in the game. He has let him have, but it is highly probable that Vitt will carry his point, as Jennings needs him badly.

Terry Turner, of the Indians is the veteran player of the American League. Terry joined the club back in 1914. Ty Cobb has been with the Tigers longer than any other player of his club, having joined the Detroit Tigers in 1905. Two years later Walter Johnson became affiliated with the Senators, and he has since then greeted all his present teammates as newcomers. Ray Caldwell has been a member of the Yankees since 1910, and the same year John Collins joined the White Sox. Jimmie Austin joined the Browns in 1911 and Elmer Myers, the youngster who joined the Athletics in 1915, is now the oldest man in point of service on that team.

As long as Victor Salier thought that he would be allowed to play with the Cubs he declared that his leg, which was broken last year, was as well as ever. But when Salier was awarded to the Pirates by Gov. Toner and then received a new contract from Barney Dreyfuss he changed his tune. Salier now insists that his leg is so weak that he will not be able to play ball this season. It's a strange coincidence that the Cubs still are trying to establish their claim to the noted first baseman's services. Under baseball law Salier belongs to the Pirates and will have to accept their terms or retire.

Bert Daniels, who played right field for the Yankees under Stallings, Chas. Wolfert and Chance, is going to retire from baseball. In recent years he has been a member of the Louisville team, but last season he lost his batting eye, also his speed, on the bag. Daniels is a civil engineer and is anxious to devote all of his time to that line of work. He was extremely popular, for which reason his retirement doubtless will interest the fans.

HOW MUCH IS A BALL PLAYER WORTH A SEASON, ANYWAY?

Recently stirred up, the argument "How much of a salary is a big leaguer really worth?" has been hotly contested on many sides. Fans, club owners and baseball experts are beginning to suspect that the player have been greatly overpaid for some while. Hughey Jennings says that he knows of only three players in the American league worth as much as $4,000 a season. The players of moderate talent who have turned back contracts offering them $2,500 or thereabouts are said to be hugely overrating their value. Almost all of them get at least that much and the argument now proceeding may result in a general reduction of salaries through out the big leagues. And the players will be sorry they ever got huffy.

The St. Louis Browns should be very well coached this season with Burke on hand to hand out tips to the infielders, Fielder Jones to direct the outfielders and Ed Walsh to take care of the pitchers.

The federal authorities will be asked to assist major league club owners in their fight to suppress baseball betting. The attention of the government will be called to the selling of baseball pools through the mails, an evil that is growing rapidly. Local district attorneys and the police will be requested to look sharp for the gamblers who invest some of the big league parks. Speculation on the game doesn't help the sport. It is a menace and the club owners, headed by Ban Johnson and Roy Toner, have put an end to it as far as possible.

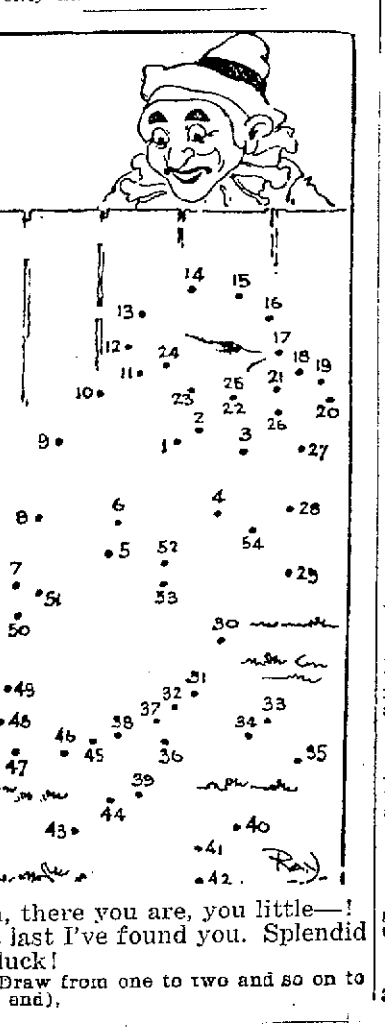

Now that Jack Powell has shown that he is serious about his comeback, he should play Cy Young and find out if he would not like to do the spangles for another try at the major league game.

There seems to be some doubt whether Fred Fulton gained or lost prestige in his bout with Tom Cowler. The latter, who was expected to be the easiest kind of a man for Cowler to beat, proved to be something of a Tartar until Fulton finally got his left hand in the fifth round. Cowler repeatedly rocked his lanky opponent who closed one of his eyes. He also outboxed him most of the way. The ease with which Cowler landed heavy blows does not speak well for Fulton's defensive arrangement. On the other hand, the fact that Fulton came on and won under punishment indicates that he is learning not to quit under fire.

Clark Griffith says that the Washington players this year will not exceed eighteen in number. His pitchers will be Walter Johnson, Doc Arers, Harry Harper, Jim Shaw, Dumont and Yinsling. Ainsmith, Gharriety and Berman will do the catching. The infielders will be Judge, Morgan, Lavan, Foster and Shanks, and the outfielders will be Shanks, Milan and Rice. Griff will try a lot of youngsters down south, but the regulars named above hardly will be displaced. The veteran George McQuinn will be retained as a coach.

Jim Scott of the White Sox is now Capt. Jim and is located up near Tacoma. Von Kolnitz, also near Tacoma, is a captain, giving the champions an edge on most teams as far as commissions are concerned.

Last Spring the Pirates took about forty athletes to the club's southern training camp. This time, however, Manager Bezdek has only about twenty-three men with him.

WOMEN TAKE CHARGE OF MORNING SERVICE AT THE U. B. CHURCH

Rev. L. L. Thayer Delivers Sermon on
"The Faithful Service of Women"
—Patriotic Music Sung.

Notably loyal to their duties and privileges as church members have been the women of the United Brethren church. And especially has this been the case during the absence of their pastor, Rev. Hart Truesdale, who is now away recuperating from illness. During the absence of the pastor, the women of the church have taken charge of the services, the older ladies doing the morning session and the young ladies at the evening service.

The ladies' aid society, numbering about thirty members, were seated on the platform at the morning service, and their president, Mrs. H. W. Kramer, presided at the service. Mrs. A. C. Olson gave the scripture lesson, reading the 14th Psalm, and Mrs. H. C. Olson led in prayer. Women users also took up the collection, and the only masculine part of the service was given by Rev. L. L. Thayer, who gave the sermon on "The Faithful Service of Women."

He prefaced his sermon by asking the special consent of the people with their pastor who is expected to be back in the near future, also gave a little talk along the lines of the sermon, asking for active work by the congregation in the patriotic movement, and also besought the interest and help of the voters in the task of securing a better government in political affairs in the coming election.

The text taken by Rev. Thayer was: "There was Mary Magdalene and the other Mary, sitting over against the sepulchre." The speaker, in commenting on this text, declared the fact that not many men followed Jesus Christ to the utter limit, that his disciples fell away from him and left him to the bitter end, but the two women, faithful unto death, followed him even to the tomb. In comparing the many facts of history, the speaker concluded that womanhood had stood the test better in most cases than had the men. At the time when Queen Esther came into the presence of the king, she risked her life, and that fact did not stand in the way of her performance of her duty. In the history of the American nation, especially in pioneer times, womanhood had played a prominent part in keeping up the prosperity and contentment of the country. During the revolutionary times, the men went out to fight and leave the women at home, oftentimes unprotected and at the mercy of wild men and beasts. They had no luxuries, and many times filled the soil and sowed the seeds.

In the Civil War there was a recurrence of the same thing. Men left home keeping step to the stern music of war, and the women went into the fields and raised the crops, which kept the nation. The agony of suspense which they endured was much worse, than the stress of battle of these men. The speaker said, "The women of the world, of every nation of the earth."

The lesson taken from this great epoch in the history of the world, when the women followed him to the tomb and appeared first in the scene of the resurrection, was that of the faithfulness of womanhood. In the affairs of the church, the speaker said, "The women of the world, of every nation of the earth."

At the evening service the program was of a patriotic nature in character. Miss Leta Skinner read a paper written by the young ladies of the society. About twenty young ladies formed a special chorus who sang several patriotic songs, among them being "Stars and Stripes," "My Land, My Country," "The Star-Spangled Banner," "Marching On." A piano duet by Miss Edna Chadderton and Miss Gladys Kramer opened the session, followed by a tableau illustrating the song, "Just Before the Dawn of Another Day." A patriotic address given by Rev. L. L. Thayer, emphasized the thought of loyalty and devotion to one's country in the present crisis, and the audience sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," closing with "America," with its new time verse. The auditorium was nicely decorated with flags.

LOCAL EXEMPTION BOARD ACCEPTS MAN WHO HAD BEEN REJECTED 3 TIMES

THE INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]
Chicago, March 25.—To be rejected by three different branches of the army service and finally accepted by a local exemption board has been the experience of Donald M. Ewing, a Chicago newspaper man. Ewing first tried to enlist in the national guard when war broke out, but was turned down.

Then he tried the regulars. Again he was rejected. Next he tried the navy, but no use, they couldn't see him. But Ewing not daunted applied to the Red Cross for ambulance work, but in vain. As a last resort, he bucked the navy. The same story, rejected because of an injury to his knee, received in a football game.
